

FIRST STATE BANK OF OTTO ROBBED BY TWO UNMASKED MEN

Special to the Sun.

Otto, Texas, Nov. 7.—The First State Bank of Otto, Falls county, near Mart, was held up and robbed near noon Monday of between six and seven thousand dollars by two unmasked bandits.

W. E. Bowers, assistant cashier, and Hans Mueller, bookkeeper, customers, J. L. Forke, groceryman, and C. H. Krumm, glazier, were in the bank when the robbery occurred. One of the men walked into the bank with a drawn pistol and ordered "Hands Up." The bank officials and the two customers were then ordered into the vault. The bandits then scooped up the money and escaped in two automobiles which were parked near the building.

Each bandit had his own car. The bandits are said to have headed toward Thornton. Bowers said he had a good description of the bandits, one being a decided blond while the other was a brunette.

The robbers in their two cars were reported to have been seen three and one half miles southwest of Mexia Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, according to reports from Mexia. Mexia officers in automobiles are in pursuit. The bandits are said to be heading south.

TEST OF SECOND WOODBINE SAND BE MADE POWELL FIELD

A test to the second Woodbine sand will be spudded in on the Green Springfield lease in the heart of the old Powell field the latter part of the week, according to an announcement made Monday afternoon by Joe E. Butler, vice president of the Corsicana Oil and Refining Company. Derrick has been built, and the contract for the well let to C. T. Kessinger & Sons of Corsicana who were engaged in rigging up Monday.

The well will be known as the Corsicana Oil and Refining Company-Derwald at Springfield No. 1. The location is about 125 feet from the old J. L. Thompson well which was one of the largest producers in this territory, making 30,000 to 40,000 barrels in the first 27 hours.

Contract for the well calls for the second Woodbine sand, which is expected to be about 3,000 feet. The majority of the production in the Powell area is found about 2800 feet. Work on the well will be pushed to completion, and the new test is expected to be spudded in by Thursday.

This is the first test to a lower depth started in the Powell field and bears out the conclusions of a number of operators that there should be another sand in the fault area.

The projected test has been under consideration for several months and is based on the showing of the Thompson gusher and also the results of attempts by various companies in the field to deepen their producing wells. In some sections of the field the Pure Oil Company deepened their producers and found a strong flow of gas, and it is thought that this gas was coming from the second Woodbine sand, according to officials of the Corsicana Oil and Refining Company.

Although the new test has been rumored for some time, other persistent rumors are afloat in parts of the local oil circles concerning a test to the Trinity sand contemplated in the heart of the Powell area.

The new test will be closely watched by all of the operators in

MATTER OF CHECKING FUTURE FLOODS WILL BE THRESHED OVER

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 7.—While flood disaster gripped one section of the country, members of the House Flood control committee assembled at the capitol today to work out the problem of holding the swirling waters in check.

Called together specifically to consider means of keeping the turbulent Mississippi and its tributaries within their banks, the members drew from the present New England flood a sterner realization of the importance of the work with which they are confronted.

That the picture of destruction caused by floods in the Mississippi basin early in the spring might be fresh in the minds of the members, a host of representatives from the section were on hand, each the bearer of an appeal to Congress to take immediate steps to draft a comprehensive flood protection policy.

Included in this group were the Governors of several states, the mayors of a number of large cities, and several scores of persons who have figured in various ways in the homeless as a result of the disaster.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—Louis Ludlow, president of the National Press Club, and a Washington correspondent, believe President Coolidge will be re-nominated unless he issues another statement positively forbidding the use of his name. Mr. Ludlow spoke today before the Women's Press Club of Indiana.

"The master politicians of the Republican party already have picked the next Republican presidential candidate; they have chosen Calvin Coolidge," he said. "There may not be a hard and fast understanding among the master politicians, but they are driving ahead with a common inspiration and a common purpose."

"Their plan is to fill the convention with a large number of uninstructed delegates, and with delegates instructed for favorite sons. This combined mass of delegates is to be held for delivery to Coolidge. The plan contemplates that, as far as possible, all delegates should be sent to the convention uninstructed, but wherever an active presidential candidate invades, or threatens to invade a State, the master politicians who are supporting Coolidge will bring out a favorite son of that State who will hold the State delegation intact until such time as Coolidge's name is resprung in the convention, when the delegation will flip to Coolidge."

"The activities of the rival aspirants for the Republican presidential nomination will subside when they learn that there is no Coolidge political estate to be administered."

"The corpse isn't dead. President Coolidge will be re-nominated as surely as tomorrow succeeds today unless he takes himself out of it by a positive statement that he will not accept if nominated."

PIONEER SUBURBAN GROCERYMAN OPENS HANDSOME STORE

About thirty-five years ago there was opened in a small one-story wooden building, located at the corner of South Fourteenth street and West Thirteenth avenue, near what was then known as "the ice factory," now the plant of the Southern Ice and Utilities Company, a family grocery store, in which Harry Miller, as quite a young merchant at that time, was interested. During the intervening years Mr. Miller has continued in the same business at the same place, although he has gradually spread out with the passing years.

During these thirty-five years Harry Miller has conducted a business at the same stand and gradually increased the number of his patrons through honest merchandising and fair dealing until today he has a list of customers of which any man might be proud and to the greater number of these customers, he has been and still is "Harry" Miller, knowing his customers and numbering them as his friends. His dealings with them have been such as to make them his friends, for there is nothing but fairness in the dealing of Mr. Miller with his customers.

Recently Mr. Miller decided he had outgrown his old wooden store building and that his customers were entitled to do business in a modern store building and that he also was entitled to work and progress from day to day in such a structure. With this idea in view he had erected on the same corner where he has been in business for thirty-five years, a modern brick building, with solid concrete floor and all other modern conveniences including up-to-date self-serving shelves and counters.

Mr. Miller now has one of the largest and most modern and most completely stocked grocery stores in the city, and has arranged it along modern self-serving ideas. He has associated with him in the business his son, Alfred Miller, who has practically grown up in the grocery business and has been assisting his father for several years. Alfred is justly proud of the new store and has had a big part in the attractive arrangement of same. Alfred, like his father, is a first-class groceryman and has the interest of his customers in mind at all times. With his assistance Mr. Miller will make a marked success of the new store.

The formal opening of the new store will take place Saturday at which time there will be souvenirs and demonstrations by nationally advertised brands of goods and the famous Royall's Coffee will be served. The general public is not only invited but urged to attend the opening of the new Harry Miller Grocery during Saturday—tomorrow.

NO TRACE BANDITS WHO ROBBED BANK AT TEHUACANA FOUND

Friday afternoon no arrests had been made in connection with the robbery of the First State Bank at Tehuacana, Texas, several miles northwest of Mexico, which occurred Thursday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock when four unmasked men entered the bank, forced O. D. Hallum, cashier, into the vault, scooped up approximately $2,500, held up H. B. Nowlin, of Coahuila, a bank customer who entered during the hold up until they reached their automobile manned by a fifth man and escaped.

This was the second time this year this bank has been robbed. April 23 the bank was robbed of $3,400 in money and $6,000 in bonds when a brick wall was cut.

There are no officers with headquarters in Tehuacana, but officers of Mexico, Limestone, Presidio and Navarro counties were quickly summoned and a posse of citizens scoured the country for the bandits. According to local officers who aided in the search, the five men in the four-door Ford sedan headed toward Wortham.

Two men in an automobile gave chase to the bandits and whenever they would get too close, the armed bandits would poke their guns out of the back glass which had been broken out and force them to slow down.

Finally, according to local officers, the bandits got ahead of the pursuing car, turned off the main road in Pin Oak Creek bottom for several hundred yards and attempted to fire the car and escape in the thick underbrush. This was reported to have happened a short time before the Navarro county officers, Sheriff W. T. Wilson and Deputy Sheriffs Rufus Perchouse, Clyde Wilkes, V. C. Murray and Special Agent arrived from the opposite direction. The car was identified as one which had been stolen from Rincón Montague county. The car was not damaged by the fire to any appreciable extent, it was reported.

Scores of officers and citizens of that section of the country scoured the Pin Oak bottoms until early Friday morning but failed to apprehend the bandits, due to the thick underbrush and darkness. Rumor had it that the bandits had separated and some went one direction in a Buick and the others proceeded in the Ford were discounted Friday when another check was made.

According to officials of the bank, the four men who entered the bank were roughly dressed men appearing like ordinary field workers.

City officers were on the outlook for the bandits at the principal entrances of the city but no suspicious looking characters were reported. Within a few minutes af-

BAD PAINS IN SIDE

Spells of Nervousness Also Troubled This Lady Who Gives Cardui Credit for Helping Her Get Well.

Depew, Okla.—"For six years," says Mrs. Edd Burton, of this place, "I suffered as bad as a woman can suffer and still keep going."

"I was good for nothing, was lifeless and pale, unable to eat anything. Nothing agreed with me. At times I had such bad pains in my sides and back I would have to go to bed. I had cramping spells and would faint if I stood on my feet any length of time. My nerves would become upset at the least little thing and I would have spells of crying that were so exhausting they left me prostrate."

"Several of my friends suggested that I take Cardui. They told me of their experiences with it, how much they have been helped. At last I decided to try it."

"In a few weeks, I could see that I was improving, so I kept on. I did not expect the troubles of years to disappear in a few days, nor did they, but in time I was much better. I kept up the Cardui treatment for several months and thanks to it I am a well woman now."

CLOSING INCIDENTS IN LIFE OF GOMEZ GIVEN TO WORLD

By Associated Press. Mexico City, Nov. 7.—The closing chapters of the career of General Arnulfo Gomez, executed in the mountains of Vera Cruz five weeks after the revolutionary movement headed by him and the late General Francisco Serrano began, were described by El Universal today.

With only fruit to eat and his health impaired, General Gomez lived in the caves of the Pescados canyon in the northern part of Vera Cruz for a few days before being captured. The troops following him were unpaid and demoralized. They had been gradually deserting until only the principal leaders and a few followers remained.

Meantime the Federal forces had been forming a ring of steel around the rebels. All mountain passes were carefully guarded. Gomez ordered one of his generals with a handful of men to reconnoiter. They were to find a way to break through the Federal forces to reach the coast or a means of joining the rebel bands he believed were operating in other districts. This party, however, was captured.

Gomez's Hiding Place Revealed. One of the captured rebels told the Federal commander, General Escobar, where Gomez was hiding. Several columns of Federal troops immediately deployed around the canyon. General Gomez and his nephew, Francisco Gomez Viscarra, were captured by General Escobar. The other rebel leaders, General Adalberto Palacios, Col. Salvador Casanova and Major Francisco Meza Perez were taken prisoners on a neighboring hill. "I expected this," said Gomez when captured. A bright moon was shining as the prisoners started their march to Teocelo. They arrived there about daybreak. General Gomez, having regained his composure, rode silently on his horse. He was clad in corduroy breeches, a brown woolen shirt and his head was covered with a wide-brimmed straw hat. The column went to the military barracks where the court-martial was held.

General Refuses Blanket. There General Gomez refused a blanket offered him. He reminded his fellow prisoners of the bitter cold nights passed by them as they roamed the mountains to evade the pursuing Federal troops.

A notary was called and Gomez made his will. He left his bungalow and ranch in Sonora and some money to his mother and his wife and two children, who are now in Los Angeles. He then wrote a letter to his wife advising her of his wishes regarding their children. Viscarra asked permission to witness his uncle's execution. He declared that Gomez had been almost a father to him and expressed satisfaction in being at his side. The condemned prisoners were then taken to the municipal cemetery where a firing squad awaited their arrival.

Gomez Faces Firing Squad Calmly. Gomez faced the firing squad calmly. The captain in command had been one of Gomez's subordinates when Gomez was a Federal General. Gomez recognized him and gave him his wrist watch, the silk handkerchief he wore around his neck and a fifty peso gold piece.

Gomez stood firmly against the wall. The rifles of the firing squad were leveled at him. The volley sounded and the Calles government had exacted the last punishment of those who rebelled against it. Viscarra was executed next and then Castanos. Gomez was exempted from the final coup de grace.

The other rebel leaders Palacios and Meza Perez were also executed.

Late last night the bodies of former General Palacios and Colonel Fernando Martinez Pulido, who were executed soon after their capture with General Gomez, arrived at Mexico City.

Palacios and Pulido Die Bravely. General Palacios, who was said to have been executed on Saturday, was court-martialed in Jalapa together with Colonel Pulido, and both were executed at the city cemetery, their bodies being sent to Mexico City under the order of General Escobar.

Palacios and Pulido went bravely to death, declaring that their last thoughts were of their relatives. Standing before the execution squad, Pulido obtained a few pesos from Palacios which he presented to the soldiers, requesting them to aim their rifles carefully, straight at his head.

Fifteen flying columns are now combining the mountains where General Almaraz, Horacio Lucero, Oscar Aguilar and Antonio Madina, the remaining rebel leaders in the Gomez-Serrano uprising, are believed in hiding. Their capture is expected momentarily. In military circles it was stated today that the state of Vera Cruz has been completely pacified.

TERROR OF DEATH IN RAGING WATERS GIVES WAY TO COLD

By Associated Press. Boston, Nov. 7.—Snow squalls and freezing weather added today to the discomfort of the thousands in the New England flood area whose homes had been surrounded and cellars filled with water.

Furnaces were useless in such places. In many of the rural districts stoves are used for heating and it was impossible in such districts to get warmth from wood fires.

The dead in the flood are known to exceed 150. Relief workers bent their efforts today toward the feeding and clothing of those driven from their homes and toward the prevention of the spread of disease.

While the waters in the Northern States continued to subside, the situation to the south remained acute with 6,000 persons reported as routed from their dwellings in Springfield, Mass., where the full effects of the Connecticut river at flood stage were being experienced. The river's rise today was most serious at Hartford.

Relief Work in Operation. The work of relief went on unceasingly while from Vermont scene of the most severe loss of life, came fresh reports of victims.

that threatened to boost the death list considerably.

On the face of incomplete information of the disaster which overtook residents of the Winooski Valley, where 86 persons are known to have perished, it was feared that a complete check of the debris littered river course would reveal further bodies.

A report from the remote Lamont river valley, the first to come from there, told of seven deaths, and it was believed in Burlington that there would be many more.

Bolton Has Many Deaths. Bolton led all Vermont places with 32 fatalities in the town and vicinity.

Waterbury had 21, while Barre was next with seven known dead and a reported possibility that the figure might reach twenty. Duxbury and North Duxbury were said to have lost 12 persons each but reports from there are unauthenticated.

SUNDAY BUSY DAY AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH AND SCHOOL

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ALL SERVICES AND PROGRAM WELL GIVEN

Sunday was a busy day at the First Methodist church. At the morning church hour, Rev. F. P. Culver preached from the theme "The Biggest Sinner in Town." Rev. Mr. Culver saying that the biggest sinner in town was the one who turned his back on Jesus Christ. Mrs. Sam Harwell of Dallas sang a solo and the choir sang an anthem. The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Love was christened and six joined the church at the close of the morning sermon.

At the morning church hour a special collection was made on the deficit of the year. J. L. Halbert made a brief talk on the finances of the church, explaining that only two weeks remained before the close of the conference year and that the church was very anxious to send its pastor to the conference in Fort Worth with a report that First Church, Corsicana, had paid in full. Mr. Halbert was assisted in the collection by R. J. Jackson, chairman of the Board of Stewards; J. N. Royall, W. J. Rochelle, W. E. Slaughter, R. B. Caldwell, Boyce Martin, Frank R. Young, and others. The collection was quite liberal and with some additional work during the next two weeks it is thought that the deficit will be made up in full.

Among the announcements made at the morning hour were the business meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society Monday afternoon at which time the election of officers will be held; the meeting of the Workers' Council at 7 o'clock Monday night and the play by the Dramatic Club, sponsored by the Mothers' Class, at 8 o'clock. On Tuesday night at 7 o'clock the Stewards will meet in session and at 8 o'clock the fourth quarterly conference of the church will be held. This is considered the most important business meeting of the church year and a full attendance is desired. The regular weekly prayer service will be held Wednesday night.

At the night service, Rev. Mr. Culver preached, the choir sang an anthem and Edward Hearri and Miss Maudie Smith sang a duet. In the Adult Department of the Sunday School, R. J. Jackson, superintendent of this department, presided; Mrs. T. P. McLendon presided at the piano, Jack Haslam led the singing and Rev. Mr. Culver led the prayer service. A program of songs was given in this department by fifteen young ladies from the State Home under direction of Miss Hattie Sadler, musical director of the Home.

In the Weber Bible Class there was an attendance of 56. This compared with 55 last Sunday shows a gain of one, and compared with an attendance of 53 the corresponding Sunday last year shows an increase of three. W. A. Tarver taught the class; S. W. Burdine, president of the class presided. Mr. Burdine announced that Beauford Jester would teach the class next Sunday and would take his subject from his recent trip to the North and East, at which time he heard some of the outstanding preachers of the country.

Following is the report of the Adult Department as furnished by T. H. Benton, secretary of the Department. Total attendance 173 compared with 166 last Sunday; Mothers' Class 29, compared with 30 last Sunday; L. Treadwell's Class 26, compared with 24 last Sunday; W. H. Jack's class 6, compared with 4 last Sunday; J. L. Halbert's class 11, compared with 11 last Sunday; Mrs. Jester's class 23, compared with 23 last Sunday; Christian Home Builders' Class 14, compared with 13 last Sunday.

In the Sunday School there was an attendance of 600, compared with 619 last Sunday and 629 the same Sunday last year.

At the conclusion of the anthem at the night service, Rev. Mr. Culver took occasion to compliment the choir for the good music that had been rendered during the day.

SHRINE CIRCUS TO BE DIFFERENT FROM ANY OTHER CIRCUS

EVERY ACT MAY BE SEEN FROM EVERY SEAT AND THERE ARE NO 'CONCERTS'

The Bob Morton Circus, now traveling in its seventh year practically without closing and coming here for the first time next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the Shrine Circus, to be held on the baseball park show grounds for the benefit of the Dallas Hospital for Crippled Children under the sponsorship of the Navarro County Shrine Club, is an organization unique in its conception and without rivals in this class of entertainment.

Bob Morton, a young Dallas showman with more than average ability, realized years ago that circuses in general were too much alike, and so he framed his circus on entirely different principles. There are no games or concessions of any kind carried by this circus, except refreshment booths and there will be none of the noisy hangers-on, peddlers and mountebanks usually seen on circus grounds. It will be a clean, meritorious and refined event.

This circus has done away with the three rings, realizing that visitors can see only what is going on right in front of their seats, and the presentation of the program is so arranged that every circus act and its different routines can be fully watched and seen from every seat in the "big top" of the circus. Morton also abolished the "concert" or aftershow as he feels that the admission charge should entitle the visitor to see the entire show and everything that is to be seen.

Furthermore, this circus is so organized that the hundred or more performers, the staff and the general help do not live on the circus train, but they all will stay in local hotels, and they do not have to eat in a circus cook house, but wherever they want to. This way not only quite a bit of money is saved in the towns where the circus exhibits, but the performers are also enjoying all comforts of life. These arrangements have made it possible for Morton to assemble under his banner a number of the foremost circus acts in the country. None of the 25 circus acts coming here have been seen in Corsicana before, and this will give the Shrine Circus the added benefit of welcome novelty.

SOUTHWESTERN TEXAS AMERICA'S "WONDERLAND"

SO SAYS PRESIDENT AMERICAN REFRIGERATOR-TRANSIT COMPANY

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 7.—Southwestern Texas is called America's wonderland by H. B. Kooser, president of the American Refrigerator Transit Company, St. Louis, who predicts that citrus fruit shipments will reach from 8,000 to 10,000 carloads by 1930 and who asserts reasonable indications are that the output will reach from 20,000 to 25,000 carloads within eight to ten years.

The statement was based on surveys of the Rio Grande Valley and were given circulation by the Missouri Pacific Gulf Coast Lines' agricultural department with headquarters at Houston.

The valley region, Mr. Kooser recites, with its rich black soil and mild, equable climate which records freezing temperatures only at long intervals, was a wilderness 25 years ago. Its production began with shipments of a few carloads of vegetables in 1907 and 1908, grew to 1,464 in 1916 and was swelled to 15,726 in 1927. But now, Mr. Kooser sees a new industry, citrus fruit raising, has come into great prominence with an estimated total planting which has grown from small commercial plantings from 1909 to 1914 to an estimated 3,250,000 citrus trees in 1927.

"This industry," Mr. Kooser says, "has long since passed the experimental stage. Grapefruit takes the lead with 60 to 75 percent of the plantings. Oranges, lemons, limes and tangerines are grown in lesser quantity. The quantity of the Valley citrus fruit is second to none and its grapefruit is sweet and juicy."

"Mile after mile of the most beautiful citrus groves, as well as immense fields of all varieties of vegetables greet the eye of the traveler when going through the valley. It cannot be better described than as a huge garden, because the groves and vegetable fields are excellently cared for and produce just as intensively as small home gardens, and the natural conditions are much better."

Many thousands of settlers have been attracted to the valley, Mr. Kooser has found and they under the stimulus of installation of marketing machinery and extension of railroad facilities, have built prosperous towns on every side. "Among those who originally saw the tremendous possibilities of the valley, many have become very wealthy and as a result numerous homes of wonderful beauty have been built and many more are now under construction," Mr. Kooser asserts.

SUSPECT HELD IN TEHUACANA ROBBERY HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED

NEARLY FOUR HUNDRED DOLLARS FOUND ON MAN
ARRESTED FT. WORTH

Mexia, Texas, Nov. 7.—B. R. Burton, about 27, who says his home is in Southern Missouri, is held here in connection with the robbery Thursday afternoon of the First State Bank of Tehuacana six miles from here. Bruton was arrested in Fort Worth by two detectives who suspected him. On Bruton was found $392, including new currency identified by bank officials as taken from the Tehuacana bank.

H. B. Nowlin, of Coolidge, who dropped in on the bank robbing party at Tehuacana, and Dixie Hallum, cashier, who was alone in the bank when the robbers entered, positively identified Bruton as one of the quartet.

Benedict of the Bryan Detective Agency, employee of the American Bankers' Association, was here in connection with the case.

Benedict says the suspect was arrested in Fort Worth about 4:35 p. m. Friday. Two plain-clothes men, new in detective work but evidently alert, found Bruton sitting on a railing near the police station. They thought his appearance looked suspicious and questioned him. Unsatisfactory answers resulted in the man's detention and a search later revealed the currency, which included 39 brand new $1 bills, included in unbroken serial numbers from K51669136D to the bill ending 69D.

The money found is almost one-fourth of the $1,650 taken in the robbery.

The Metropolitan Insurance company of New York Saturday presented the bank with a draft for $1,650 covering the losses in the robbery. K. A. White, of Houston, representing the company, brought the draft here.

A Ford car stolen from C. F. Mitchell, who lives some fifteen miles west of Corsicana on the Waco road, was stolen Thursday night. It was reported to the police of Corsicana. This car was recovered at the same time the arrest of the suspect was made in Fort Worth; it was later stated.

Suspect Claimed Identity
Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 7.—A 23-year-old suspect arrested in Fort Worth Friday by Detectives Swinburn and Henderson was identified Saturday by O. D. Hallum, cashier of the First State Bank of Tehuacana, as one of four bandits who entered the institution Thursday afternoon, locked him in a vault and escaped with $1,643.

This information was received Saturday night by Chief Detectives Jackson from Sheriff A. R. McKenzie after the man had been returned to Mexia from Fort Worth Saturday by Limestone County officers.

Hallum also identified a bank wrapper found in the suspect's possession as that from Tehuacana. Detectives here were informed. Thirteen torn $7 bills were found secreted in the man's clothing. The same amount of frayed currency was scooped from the cash drawer by the bandits during the hold-up.

Police in Fort Worth were still making efforts Saturday night to find two occupants of a car who fled after crashing into another automobile early Friday on Sixth and Main streets. Two guns were discovered in the car, which was identified Saturday as one stolen from a farm near Corsicana a short time after the Tehuacana bank robbery.

Officers are working on the theory that the men who leaped from the automobile are companions of the suspect returned to Mexia in connection with the robbery.

Before he was able to extinguish the flames they had spread to the body and the car was wrecked before other help could be obtained.

The car was brought to Corsicana by the wrecker from a local garage. The motor of the automobile was only slightly damaged.

BURGLAR ENTERED WEST END HOME AND SECURED SOME CASH

The home of Jim Kerr, located at 1430 West First avenue, was entered Friday night or early Saturday morning and completely ransacked, while the family were asleep. The intruders getting several dollars in cash, but if anything else was taken it had not been missed Monday. The sum of $6 in bills was taken from one place, more than a dollar in change was taken from another place and a $1 bill from still another place.

The burglary was not discovered until Saturday morning when a member of the family went out after the paper and discovered a screen cut on one of the front windows.

PRELIMINARY PLANS MADE FOR POULTRY SHOW IN CORSICANA

DECEMBER 15, 16 AND 17 SET
AS DATES, WITH PLACE TO BE SELECTED

Preliminary plans for the Navarro County Winter Poultry Show in Corsicana were made at a meeting of the Navarro County Poultry Association at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon. President Jack Mcgarity and Secretary Henry Gentry had charge of the meeting. A representative group of poultrymen were present.

Dates selected for the show were December 15, 16 and 17, with the location yet to be made. Several buildings with large floor space are under consideration.

In order to accommodate a larger number of exhibitors, and to keep many of the pens from being filled with "sale birds" instead of show birds, the Association decided to make a small exhibition entry fee of 25c for singles and one dollar for a pen. In previous shows no entry fees have been made.

Mark DeWitt was named chairman of the judging committee; Frank McCullough, chairman of the grounds committee; H. G. Bonar, chairman finance committee, with associates to be named later. Decision was made also to issue a small catalogue with the following committee in charge of this detail: Henry Gentry, H. E. Rea, Jack Mcgarity and Roy Christian.

Charles Willmann led an interesting discussion on the raising of early spring fliers for the local market. His suggestions found considerable favor with those present.

Poultrymen present gave assurances of their co-operation with the Navarro County Hat Control Campaign which is to be conducted by the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, beginning Nov. 15.

IN THESE modern days the traffic "cop" is an outstanding figure—without him the constantly increasing traffic would become hopelessly congested and the ensuing confusion would greatly increase the number of accidents. Regardless of this modern traffic "regulator" many heedless people meet with serious accident.

Credit today is in the same condition as traffic. If it was not for the controlling factor of the credit organizations and the individual credit man—a great many people would run wild—buying far beyond their needs and ability to pay.

There are people who disregard sane credit limits as well as those who disregard the traffic ordinances—And they all meet with disaster sooner or later.

There is a "Stop" sign for every one of us. Let us heed it before it is too late.

FIRST WINTER TON LITTER CONTEST HAS NUMEROUS ENTRIES

FEATURE OF WINTER CONTEST WILL BE TON LITTER SHOW AT FORT WORTH

Special to the Sun.

College Station, Texas, Nov. 7.—The first winter ton litter contest ever held in the United States, being conducted this year in Texas through the co-operation of a number of concerns with the Agricultural Extension Service, A. and M. College of Texas, promises already to show more entries than the summer contest which closed Oct. 25.

Farrowing dates for the winter contest opened August 15 and closed November 1, but swine raisers have thirty days after the closing of the farrowing period in which to list their entries. E. R. Eudaly, swine husbandman of the Extension Service who is directing the contest, pointed out. In consequence the complete number of entries will not be known until the last of this month. However, it looks like the total of 250 entries for the summer contest this year will be exceeded, Mr. Eudaly said.

A feature of the winter contest will be a ton litter show at the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show at Fort Worth next March. A total of $235 in premiums has been posted for this ton litter show in addition to the $750 in prizes hung up as premium money for the winter contest by those concerns co-operating with the Extension Service. Contributors to this total of $750 in prizes for the winter contest include: Progressive Farmer, Dallas; Swift & Company, Armour & Company, Fort Worth Stock Yards Company, Purina Mills, Superior Mills, all of Fort Worth; Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, Dallas.

The idea of holding a winter ton litter contest was advanced by Mr. Eudaly as a means of demonstrating that Texas as a winter grazing state can produce hogs in winter just as well as in summer. In addition, winter is a period during which farmers have more time for hog raising. Mr. Eudaly has pointed out, being the period following the harvesting of the fields in the fall.

While the ton litter idea is now old enough to have become well established, it has never before been employed in a winter contest. The ton litter plans was inaugurated in Indiana in 1922 by the Extension Service at Purdue University, a land grant college. Texas took up the idea in 1923 and a ton litter contest has been conducted in this state every summer since. Mr. Eudaly has pointed out that the contest was started as a summer contest since the summer is the most favorable period for hog raising in Indiana where the idea originated.

Another difference in the winter contest being conducted this year from the summer contest is that 150 instead of 180 days will constitute the winter feeding period.

Although announcement of winners of the 1927 season ton litter contest has not yet been made, it is already certain that the contest, that closed Oct. 25 will show better records than that of last summer, Mr. Eudaly said. The 251 entries in the summer contest were from 54 counties.

The winner of the 1926 contest was Harry Hay, Waco, with a litter of eleven Duroc-Jerseys that showed total weight of 3040 pounds while the highest average weight for 1926 was recorded by H. Rueter, Waco, with litter of eight Duroc-Jerseys that showed average weight of 377 pounds.

During the middle of October a litter of twelve Poland Chinas, entered by Fred Wieser, McGregor, showed a total weight of 3425 pounds and was at that time the best record in the 1927 contest while a litter of eight Poland Chinas, entered by J. P. Keeton, Pearl, Coryell County, showed at that time average weight of 330 pounds. Whoever may be the winners in the 1927 summer contest, the records still show the records of 1926 beaten.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR TO WRITE CHAPTER ON MEXICO

ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA SELECTS DR. HACKETT FOR IMPORTANT WORK

Special to the Sun.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 7.—In recognition of his knowledge of Mexico affairs, Dr. Charles W. Hackett, professor of Latin-American history of the University of Texas, has been selected by the editors of Encyclopedia Britannica to write the chapter on the colonial and modern history of Mexico for the coming edition of that work. This assignment will consist of writing 12,000 words which will fill approximately eight pages of the printed book.

An honor of equal distinction has come to George C. M. Engstrand, associate professor of anthropology and curator of collections of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University. Mr. Engstrand has been selected to write a 12,000 word description of the physical features of Mexico, for the coming edition of Encyclopedia Britannica. Mr. Engstrand was for six years professor of archaeology in the National Museum of Mexico and for eight years was director of the Geological Survey of that country.

In the present edition of Encyclopedia Britannica the part devoted to Mexico is divided into three groups, one dealing with the pre-Spanish history, one with the colonial history and one with the geology and physical features.

The articles which Dr. Hackett and Professor Engstrand have been requested to write must be in the hands of the publishers by February 15.

NEW GRASSES FOR TEXAS COAST AREA MEANS BETTER BEEF

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 7.—Jack Turner, agricultural agent for one of the important railroad lines entering Houston, observes that introduction of new grasses to the coastal region of Texas will result in a higher quality of beef cattle in that section where native grasses heretofore largely have been depended upon.

"The thirteen counties," he says, "lying between the Sabine River and Corpus Christi have a total pasture area of 5,400,000 acres with a beef cattle population of 300,000, which shows the carrying capacity is very low." The soil, however, he thinks, is more productive than the figures indicate and in his program for better grazing he would grow legumes, such as clover and soy beans, to supplement the pasture. Grain sorghums, which he says make good yields in the southern part of this section and corn which does well in the eastern part, mixed probably with cotton seed meal, can be used to economically finish them and result in a much higher grade for market.

Mr. Turner judges that the program might profitably be carried out because even under ordinary conditions, chief of which are mild winters and abundance of native grasses, cattle are probably raised. The native grass, Mr. Turner recited, is not a fattening grass but it grows good feeder cattle and many ranchmen have taken the hint that the quality of their feeders can be raised considerably by supplementing their pastures with Rhodes grass. The King ranch near Kingsville had taken the lead in average planted, according to Mr. Turner, who regards the movement as one of the initial steps in a better Texas beef program.

WINTER WHEAT IN TEXAS-OKLAHOMA AREA IS EXCELLENT

TEXAS PORTS HAVE EXPORTED LESS WHEAT THIS YEAR THAN LAST

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 5.—Winter wheat in the heavy producing areas of Texas and Oklahoma is in excellent condition, according to a report of the car service division, American Railway Association, reviewing general business and crop conditions in the Southwest during the last half of October.

Because of heavy yields in Canada and the Northwest, exports of wheat through Texas ports have been considerably reduced and bookings are light, nor can this situation be expected to change until the Canadian and Northwest spring crops are out of the way, says the report.

All Texas ports have exported less wheat since July 1, 1927, as compared with the same period for 1926, the reports shows. At Galveston, 11,673,765 bushels were exported in July, August, September and October of this year against 30,574,235 bushels during the same period in 1926. Comparative figures for the same periods at other points are reported as follows: Houston, 1927, 1,247,160 bushels; 1926, 2,372,984 bushels; Texas City, 1927 none, 1926, 1,648,028 bushels; Port Arthur, 1927, 388,500 bushels; 1926, 499,170 bushels.

Approximately 500,000 bushels of wheat have been booked for export through Galveston during November and because of a substantial surplus of this crop in Oklahoma and Texas this season "still further exports are anticipated," the report continues.

Harvesting of grain sorghums in northern sections of the Southwest is under way, and shipments are moving freely from other sections. Indications point to a good export demand.

Do Farmers have Eyestrain?

FARMERS — living so close to Nature—should have no eye troubles, it would seem. Nevertheless, Summer suns and Winter, snows cause farmers much eye discomfort.

Glare-proof glasses for those who are out of doors all the year 'round are now made with special lenses that look like ordinary lenses but which give the extra eye comfort needed.

Only a scientific eyesight examination will indicate the glasses needed. Our charges are always moderate.

AIR MAIL SERVICE SOUTH TEXAS POINTS BEGINS JANUARY 1

PLANES TO BE OPERATED BY THE TEXAS AIR TRANSPORT COMPANY

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 7.—Air mail service from Fort Worth to San Antonio and Galveston is expected to begin around the first of January, it was announced by A. R. Spencer, manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and C. A. Windsor, supervisor of public utilities, upon their return from a tour of South Texas.

The planes will be operated by the Texas Air Transport Company, however. The type of plane to be used is yet undecided upon and provision for landing fields has yet to be made, Spencer said.

The pair visited Houston, Galveston, San Antonio and Austin. "Every city we visited was enthusiastic about air service and I believe we will get plenty of co-operation," Spencer said. The new Wilburn field at San Antonio, which replaces Stinson Field, will be completed in time for use by air mail, they believe. Site for the field at Galveston has been chosen while arrangements are under way for joint commercial and municipal fields at Austin and Houston.

Belief that every principal city in the state would soon have a landing field was expressed by Spencer. "Interest in aviation is astonishing," he declared "and both cities and towns are beginning to realize they are out of step with the times unless they are making preparations for the aviation." Suggestion that cities along the proposed route lay their names in stone in a field on the outskirts was made. Letters 15 to 20 feet in height should be used and the name placed due North and South.

SLAYER OF WOMAN GOES CALMLY INTO ELECTRIC CHAIR

By Associated Press.

Huntsville, Texas, Nov. 5.—A. V. Millikin, slayer of Mrs. Virginia Petty, of San Antonio, more than a year ago, calmly went to his death in the electric chair at the State prison here shortly after 1 o'clock this morning after most of the machinery of the courts had been exhausted to save him.

He took his seat in the chair at about 4:30 o'clock. Three minutes later the electric current was turned on and at 4:41 Dr. L. H. Bush, prison physician pronounced him dead.

As he was about to be led out of the death cell, Millikin asked for a cup of coffee. He drank it with apparent relish and unsupported walked through the corridor into the room where he was to die.

Millikin's last act was to kiss the cross which Father Hugh Finnegan, Catholic chaplain of the prison, held out to him as he was about to take his seat.

Dying a Catholic, He Said.
Upon reaching the chair, Warden N. L. Speer asked the condemned man if he had anything to say.

"I am dying a Catholic," he said, facing the fifteen persons, mostly prison guards, and officials grouped in front of him. "I am putting my faith in Jesus Christ. I believe He will save me. He will do it."

Millikin stood apparently untroubled of the next move and Warden Speer suggested it.

Without emotion he sat in the chair, the guards strapped him in and within a few minutes the State had carried out the mandate of the court which had convicted him.

Millikin's last desperate hope to escape death ended Friday when Warden Speer was informed that Governor Dan Moody had refused a reprieve after the Governor had granted a reprieve of 24 hours Thursday night, a few hours before Millikin was to die. Just previously W. E. Hawkins, one of the defendants' attorneys, had implored Federal Judge J. C. Hutcherson at Houston over the telephone to take jurisdiction of the case after Federal Judge W. L. Estes of Texas had decided adversely on Hawkins' plea for a writ of habeas corpus for his client.

Hawkins Finally in Despair.
Judge Hutcherson told the attorney that "of course I will consider the petition for a writ of habeas corpus when it is filed; I cannot do otherwise," but when Hawkins was informed that Governor Moody had refused a further stay, it became apparent that time was lacking to get it before the Houston judge and Hawkins left Texas in despair. It was his last hope for reprieve from Texas, said, and added that he had said he had exhausted his last avenue of escape for his client.

Even then, Warden Speer gave Millikin nearly all the latitude that the law allowed him. He could legally have put him to death on minute after midnight, but still had an interval, under the Texas law until daybreak.

Spectacular Fight for Life.
Millikin's fight for life has been spectacular and probably without precedent in Texas history.

After his conviction last summer at Lockhart he wrote 80 letters, according to his version, to attorneys in Texas, affirming his innocence of the murder of Mrs. Virginia Petty, San Antonio realtor, in May 1926, and urging that they take his case to a higher court. But two attorneys responded, he was quoted as having said, and almost immediately Clarence Ginn, Houston attorney, and Mr. Hawkins began to appear in the courts in his behalf.

Millikin's execution was fixed for September 2, but on appeal to a higher court it was deferred until 18 days later. Governor Moody relieved him at least four times; a lunacy hearing was fruitless; two high courts acted adversely; an appeal to Federal Judges W. H. Atwell, Dallas; W. L. Estes, Texas; J. C. Hutcherson, Houston and Duval West, San Antonio brought no relief. The case actually came to a hearing before but one of them, Judge Estes, who Thursday night dismissed it. Even then Mr. Hawkins turned once more to Governor Moody. Frantic telephone calls to Austin disclosed that the governor was at that time enroute from Victoria to Austin.

When the governor finally was reached, he left word with his secretary at Austin that his Thursday night reprieve was the last he would grant. A few hours later Millikin who had often declared he would never die in the electric chair had paid the supreme penalty.

Millikin was about forty years old.

CAPT. H. C. GRAY
DIES WHILE BALLOON
SOARS HIGH IN AIR

By Associated Press.

Sparta, Tenn., Nov. 5.—Captain Hawthorne C. Gray, who set out from Scott Field, Belleville, Ill. yesterday seeking a world altitude record for free balloons, lost his life in the attempt. His body in the wrecked balloon was recovered near here today.

Identity of the aeronaut was established by papers in his pockets. The balloon bore the number, S-20.

The balloon, drifting aimlessly, was seen about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by a farmer, who attempted to seize hold of the rope but missed it. Following it over the mountains, he came upon the balloon lodged in a tree and the basket in another tree about ten feet distant. Not suspecting that any one was in the bag, he made no report of the incident until today.

Cause of the death was undetermined but belief was expressed in the undertaking establishment of Quarles & Hunter, where the body was brought that he either had died of heart trouble or of gas. He was wearing his oxygen mask when the body was found, and it appeared that he had been dead since yesterday.

Doctors said they believed the aeronaut man died by lack of oxygen, as there were no bruises on his body. The oxygen tanks in the basket were not examined as to whether they had frozen or proved defective.

Early this morning a boy climbed the tree and discovered Captain Gray's body.

Word was sent to Sparta and a party was dispatched from there. The basket was lowered carefully to the ground and all instruments and papers left just as they were, a photograph having been taken of the ensemble before the captain's body was removed. Captain Gray's journal of the flight contained a page of entries. The last one was timed at 3:15 p. m. Friday. It read: "4,000 feet. Sand all gone."

Believed Record Achieved.
By Associated Press.

Scott Field, Ill., Nov. 5.—Capt. Hawthorne C. Gray reached an altitude of 40,000 feet at 3:15 p. m. yesterday he wrote in his log found with his body near Sparta, Tenn. today. Scott Field officials were informed. This altitude, if authenticated would establish a new world's record.

This was the last entry made by Captain Gray. His sealed instruments may show an even greater height when opened at Washington, where they will be sent immediately.

Captain Gray, 40,000 feet up again went higher into the air than any other living man, but Scott Field officials said it was doubtful whether the record would be allowed officially. His ascent to 42,470 feet last May was disallowed as a world's record because he was forced to descend by parachute.

By Associated Press.
Sparta, Tenn., Nov. 5.—The body of a balloonist, believed to be that of Captain Hawthorne C. Gray, who took off from Belleville, Ill. yesterday in an attempt to establish a world's record, was taken from a wrecked balloon near here today.

The balloon had landed in a tree on a farm several miles to the south. Capt. Gray left Scott Field at Belleville, at 2:22 p. m. yesterday, and was accompanied for a time by four escort planes but they lost sight of him in the clouds over Illinois yesterday. At the time he was headed in the direction of the Kentucky in his balloon.

The pilots expressed the belief last night that Captain Gray might have landed in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

Biograph Shows 43,000 Feet.
By Associated Press.

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—The postmaster at Sparta, Tenn., who inspected the biograph in the basket of Captain Hawthorne C. Gray's balloon, told the Post Dispatch over long distance telephone today that it recorded an altitude of 43,000 feet. Captain Gray reached 42,470 in his flight last May 4.

SHRINE CIRCUS IS PROMISING MANY THRILLS TO PUBLIC

The Bob Norton Circus Headquarters at 129 West Collin Street have given out last night the program that the Bob Norton Circus will present here during their three day engagement, beginning Monday, November 14th, for the benefit of the local Shrine Club Crippled Children's Fund, and everything points to the fact that a real high class circus performance will be presented.

According to J. J. Cleary, advance director for the circus, all arrangements for the circus are going along nicely; the ticket advance sale by the members of the Shrine Club is highly gratifying and an unprecedented success is predicted for the event.

The Bob Norton Circus, contracted for by the Shrine Club, to furnish the circus performance, is not a stranger in this part of the country, but will bring an entirely new program here that will appeal to every circus goer. This circus will offer here at every performance two hours of real circus thrills, interspersed with many clown antics and a number of first class animal acts that have never been seen here before.

The 1927 edition of the Bob Norton Circus, with its 100 famous circus stars, its 22 sensational acts, and its army of funny clowns, will be entirely different from any circus program ever presented in Corsicana. Among the big animal acts featured are the Riding Royals, one of the foremost riding acts in the country; Mlle. Carri's trained high school horses, ponies and wrestling bears; Scott's bucking mules and many other interesting animal numbers.

Featured also in the big show program will be the Flying Franklins in their daring aerial flights through mid-air; the Lucky Sisters with their famous ballet "The Human Butterflies"; Large and Morgner world's sensational head-and hand-balancers; Mlle. Martha Mulkey to his wife, and since the Girl in the Silver Whirl; the Four Graces on the lofty swinging ladders; the Baldwin girls, supreme queens of the slender silver strands; the Hendryx Company, in sensational revolving ladder evolutions; the Bounding Gordons, comedy knockout artists; the Pat's Luck Company, of unexcelled perch artists; Mme. Tyana, known as the "Female Hercules"; Allie Johnson on the slack wire and other feature acts. They will comprise a splendid program of interesting circus novelties.

There will be funny clowns, coddles of them, and they will make the little and the grown-up kiddies laugh, as they never laughed before. And there will be nothing missing that goes into a circus program. Everything points to the fact that the program of the coming Shrine Club Circus promises to provide one of the most enjoyable entertainments of the year, and at the same time it will help a worthy cause.

Clown Band to Appear in Big Circus
One of the most important features of the modern circus are the clowns. The funny fellows who bring the laughs into the arena are the backbone of the circus stars. They make or break a circus on the road. They must keep abreast of the times, and their buffoonery must be up-to-date and laugh evoking. Without good clowns a circus is like an automobile without an engine.

The Bob Norton Circus, coming here Monday, November 14th, under the auspices of the Shrine Club, is famous for its galaxy of twenty or more funny clowns who are recruited from among the very best in their profession and under the leadership of producing clown Hank Sylow, they will entertain young and old during the performances of the Bob Norton Circus with their funny antics and burlesque on events of the day. The clowns of this circus are in a class by themselves, like all the other 22 all-star feature acts of the arena which the circus will present at each performance here.

OLD TIME FRIEND VISITED SHUT-IN HERE THURSDAY

One of the many pleasures of the short stay of the Dallas visitors to Corsicana Thursday was the appreciation of Mrs. Abe Mulkey of a short visit at her bedside of her old time friend Mr. Royal A. Ferris, a life long friend of the late Rev. and Mrs. Abe Mulkey.

Mr. Ferris was very glad of the opportunity of calling on Mrs. Mulkey who has been confined to her bed, being accompanied by E. D. McCarver who took him for a short ride over the city during his stay with the Dallas delegation.

Mr. Ferris claims the distinction of introducing the late Rev. Abe Mulkey to his wife, and since claiming the credit of bringing those two happy souls together has been one of the closest friends of the Mulkey family.
